Nation Rocked by Mac's Dismissal; 'Fired' General May Return to U.S.

Republican Congressmen Talk Of 'Possible Impeachments'; Political Controversy Rages

WASHINGTON — (AP)— President Truman fired Gen. Douglas MacArthur today on grounds he failed to support —and publicly sought to change—the grand strategy of the United Nations war against Red aggression in Korea.

In a sensational statement released at the White House at 12 midnight (CST) the president announced:

"With deep regret I have concluded that General of the Army Douglas MacArthur is unable to give his wholehearted support to the policies of the United States government and of the United Nations in matters pertaining to his official duties."

Truman Acted Fast

Acting with lightning speed on that conclusion, once he had reached it, the President:

1. Relieved the 71-year-old MacArthur of his four-fold duties as supreme allied occupation commander in Japan; United Nations commander in chief for Korea; United States commander in chief for the Far East; and commanding general of the United States army in the Far East.

2. Named Lieut. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, field commander in Korea, to succeed MacArthur in all these commands. That means Ridgway not only will direct the UN campaign in Korea but also wind up the Japanese occupation, assuming peace treaty plans go through.

Van Fleet Named

3. Named Lieut. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, commander of the Second army at Fort George G. Meade, Md., to take over the Eighth army command in Korea from Ridgway.

4. Issued a set of secret messages exchanged between MacArthur and the joint chiefs of staff here. The evident aim was to show that MacArthur had scorned successive Washington directives to clear anything he said on major political or military policy with either te State or Defense departmetns.

The order relieving MacArthur of command was Truman's answer to the general's persistent campaign of public statements to get the United States to follow a different policy in the Far East and especially, with its UN allies, in the Korean war.

Policies Reaffirmed

His dismissal amounts to reaffirmation by Mr. Truman of United States policies for a strictly limited war in Korea, if possible, and for treating Europe as the ultimately decisive area of contest with Soviet Communist power.

The bombshell announcement was made by press secretary

WASHINGTON — (AP)— Congressional Republicans, angered by President Truman's firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, talked of "possible impeachments" today and got the general's agreement to address a joint session of senate and house.

Senator Wherry of Nebraska and Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, the GOP floor leaders, talked to MacArthur by transPacific telephone.

Martin announced to the house: "I am authorized to say that Gen. MacArthur would be delighted to have an invitation to speak" to a joint session. He added that MacArthur "can be here in about three weeks."

Martin issued a statement in which he said, among other things, that "the question of possible impeachments was discussed."

Martin was asked about the use of plural "impeachments."

The plural was correct, Martin replied.

Asked whether the subject of impeachments applied to anyone in particular, Martin said it applied to anyone "who has transgressed."

Martin let it stand at that.

Acheson, Too

The plain implication, however, was that they felt an impeachment move might be warranted against President Truman, Secretary of State Acheson and possibly others in the Democratic administration.

Impeachment is, in effect, trial for removal from office. The mechanics are this: The house must adopt a resolution of impeachment. The senate then sits as a court to try the impeachment charges.

When the house itself convened at 11 a. m., Martin asked for a two-hour recess so Republican members could hold a caucus about MacArthur. Martin failed to get it over the Democratic opposition.

Capitol Hill Split

Most of the Capitol Hill split over the MacArthur removal was along party lines. For the most part, the Democrats were quick to line up in support of Truman's action.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the house armed services committee got out a statement saying the president has his "full support." He called MacArthur's removal: "It is if anything long overdue."

The emotions stirred by the incident ran so deep it was obvious a "great debate" over Far Eastern policy was in the making—a debate that could have far-reaching repercussions.

Those sitting in on the conference in Martin's office included Senators Taft (Ohio), Bridges (NH), Knowland (Calif), Wiley (Wis) Wherry (Neb), and Smith (NJ). The house GOP members included the party's policy committee, headed by Martin.

Explosive reaction among lawmakers included demands that MacArthur testify before the bar of American public opinion on his view that the fate of Europe hinges on the gage of battle with Communism in Asia.

This runs directly counter to the Truman administration's efforts to localize the fighting in Korea and avoid all-out war with Red China.

Taft Statement

Senator Taft said: "The president has made a tragic error."

Senator Knowland (R-Calif) called the decision a "forerunner to a Far Eastern Munich."

The cabinet member's chief congressional critic, Senator McCarthy (R-Wis), called MacArthur's removal from command "a black day for America and a great day of rejoicing and victory for Communism."

McCarthy called MacArthur "the last bulwark in the East against Communism and for America."

"To destroy him is treason," the Wisconsin senator declared.

Senator Jenner (R-Ind) contend-

Here's What They Said . . .

Here are the first comments on the dismissal of Gen. MacArthur made by famous world figures:

HERBERT HOOVER: "This action can bring great tragedy to our country. It does not solve the primary question of how to end our war with Communist China without advantage to Soviet Russia.

"A strong pillar in our Asian defense has been removed."

SENATOR TAFT: "The president has made a tragic error."

GEN. RIDGWAY: "No comment."

REP. VINSON: "It is if anything long overdue."

PRES. TRUMAN: "You (MacArthur) are free to travel to such places as you select."

SEN. McCARTHY: "MacArthur is the last bulwark in the East against Communism and for America. To destroy him is treason. This is a black day for America and a great day of rejoicing and victory for Communism."

Eight Dead In Crash of C-54 Plane

FAIRBANKS, ALASKA, (AP) —A routine attempt to pick up a glider at Ladd air force base ended in the fiery crash of a low-flying four-motored C-54 transport plane with a loss of eight lives yesterday.

The air force transport plane exploded and burst into flames after striking a runway.

Witnesses said flames consumed the crashed plane from tail to engines inside a minute after it hit the ground with its eight-man crew.

10-Year-Old Boy Discovered Dead Today

Authorities Check Inmates of Cottage At State Hospital

A Dixon State hospital epileptic patient, who was found dead in bed this morning apparently of strangulation, may have had an epileptic seizure and strangled himself, a coroner's jury heard this afternoon.

The victim was Kenneth LaRoy, 10, Bloomington. He was found dead at about 3 a.m. in a hospital cottage by Albert LeMore, attendant.

Reported Strangled

Dr. Charles K. Bush, superintendent of the hospital, said earlier this morning that young LaRoy was strangled. Immeriately county authorities were brought into the case. Various patients were questioned throughout the morning.

Dr. John E. Maloney, Princeton pathologist, told the jury that it was his belief that young LaRoy had been seized with an attack and then clutched his throat. Finger imprints were on the boy's throat when he was found.

Question Patient

Brought into the inquiry this afternoon was Alax Lambersky, 23, a mental patient from another ward, but who was serving as an orderly in the cottage where the victim was found.

Lambersky, it was revealed, has been under questioning this morning by Sheriff Charles E. Redebaugh and State's Atty. Morey E. Pires.

LeMore, the attendant, who followed Dr. Maloney to the stand today, said that Lambersky had come to him early this morning for treatment of a cut on his finger.

The cottage in which LaRoy was found usually houses 150 patients but 177 were quartered there because of remodeling and painting now going on in other buildings.

Dr. Bush said regular two-hour checks are made in the ward and that if LaRoy had been attacked, he had put up little struggle. The bed clothing was not disturbed greatly. It was definitely established that the boy was alive at 1:30 a.m., Dr. Bush said.

The inquest this afternoon was being conducted by Coroner Robert Preston of Lee county.

The dead youth is the son of Mrs. Fate LaRoy, Bloomington. He has three brothers and a sister.

Tobey Recordings 'Outrageous:' HST

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The White House said today President Truman thinks it is "outrageous" that Senator Tobey (R-NH) has recorded telephone conversations with the President.

Congressional sources said yesterday that Tobey had told Senate investigators he made recordings of two telephone talks with Mr. Truman about the Reconstruction Finance Corporation investigation.

Asked about this today, White House press secretary Joseph Short said:

"The President thinks that the recordings of telephone conversations is outrageous."

"As to the recordings of these conversations, as far as the President is concerned every word can be made public," Short told reporters.

Senator Bennett (R-Utah) said earlier that he may demand a Senate playback of one of the recordings in which the President was reported to have said he "has the goods" on many congress members in connection with the bringing of influence on RFC loan matters.

MAC TOOK DISMISSAL NEWS 'MAGNIFICENTLY'

Aide Praises General 'In His Finest Hour'

TOKYO—(AP) — MacArthur received the news of dismissal from all his commands today "magnificently and without turning of hair."

Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, military secretary of the United Nations command, told newsmen MacArthur would have no comment "for the time." He added:

"I just left the general. He received the word of the president's dismissal from command magnificently. He never turned a hair. His soldierly qualities were never more pronounced.

"This has been his finest hour."

The firing of MacArthur, by President Truman, came with the drama and irony which has marked the five-star general's 47 years of active military life. His notice came without warning during a quiet luncheon at his home.

Throughout a career of three wars and tumultuous peace, MacArthur has shouldered aside precedent to follow his destiny with meteoric and controversial brilliance.

Today, at the apparent end of a career which has included two temporary but bitter military defeats, the 71-year-old general was relieved without public hint of criticism for his military ability.

From the day, in 1903, that he graduated at the top of his West Point class, MacArthur never has been away from military affairs.

He retired from the U. S. army in 1937, then spent the next four years as field marshal of the Philippines trying to build a defense force. He returned to active duty with the U. S. army in 1941, just before the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, and has remained in uniform since then.

Reached Top in 1944

MacArthur was named a general of the army Dec. 18, 1944. It, like most of his other top appointments, was by a Democratic president.

He never wore his medals. But he had them all, including the Congressional Medal of Honor, and innumerable foreign decorations.

MacArthur liked to think that his destiny has linked his career with the Orient. His first assignment was as a young engineer in the Philippines. His career ended in the Orient.

MacArthur had practically three careers.

The first was distinguished by a spectacular rise to rank and power to his appointment as chief of staff, in 1930. At 50, he was the youngest man to hold that office, and he occupied it for a record length of time—five years.

Conceived Rainbow Division

Before then, MacArthur had been the youngest superintendent of West Point and the youngest divisional commander in World War I. He conceived the idea of the Rainbow Division and served in it.

A controversy that has lived alongside his name during subsequent years was his part, as chief of staff, in ordering the army out against Washington's bonus marchers in 1932. His supporters said he was only obeying orders.

The general sank into relative obscurity after he returned to the Philippines in 1935 as adviser to the commonwealth government. Two years later, on his last visit to continental United States, he married the present Mrs. MacArthur. She has been by his side during most of the thunderous years that followed.

MacArthur began a second career at 61, when Japanese imperialism bounced him back to war in the Philippines as commander of U. S. forces in the Far East.

Was at Bataan

There he made his first fight with outnumbered and outgunned troops against a reckless, determined Oriental enemy.

The heartbreaking retreat into Bataan, the bitter battle for that peninsula and its tadpole guardian, Corregidor, and finally the galling capitulation—these all left scars on MacArthur that were to reappear years later.

MacArthur was preparing plans for the invasion of Japan, which he was to command, when the Japanese capitulation ended the first major war of Western powers against the Orient.

A third career opened for the general as supreme commander for the Allied powers—the political emperor of beaten, floundering Japan.

He was 70 when the North Koreans struck last June. He was always mentally keen and alert; and so hard-working he denied himself holidays. But when combat challenged again, he seemed to lose 10 years and to seek action like an old fire horse.

Elated By Inchon

The general was elated by the success of the brilliant Inchon landing last September. The North Korean army came apart, as he had predicted, and the war was considered almost over. MacArthur and his officers had thought the Chinese Communists would hit during the Inchon landing or not at all.

The Chinese attack was a profound shock. It turned a brilliant victory into a bitter holding war, the end of which is not yet in sight.

Impatience "Fatal"

It was then that MacArthur began to show his pronounced, and fatal, impatience with the restraints under which he was obliged to fight.

It was then he began to demand political decisions and to suggest widening the war.

But as he made his statements, there must have been swirling in his memory the recollection of that other bloody peninsula which meant so much to him—Bataan.

EDITORIAL

MacARTHUR

General of the Army Douglas MacArthur has been fired by President Truman because he advocated policies contrary to those of the administration. The too-small man in the too-large job at Washington, enraged because MacArthur dared to publicly disagree with the way Acheson and England and the U. N. and Independence, Mo., want to run things, has acted true to form. He has stricken down our pillar of strength in the Orient.

• • •

It may be safely assumed that General MacArthur knew when he voiced his criticism of the Truman policies that he was endangering his military career, but that he deliberately went ahead because his courage and his patriotism demanded forthright and outspoken statements to his countrymen.

• • •

General MacArthur is coming back to America. He will be given the reception of a great hero and a great patriot and a great general.

Perhaps MacArthur's sacrifice of his own interests will result in great benefits for his country.

Here Are the Pros and Cons Of Gen. MacArthur's Ouster

Background of Policy Fuss Involved Best Method to Curb Reds

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON—(AP)—This is an ABC on the big fuss over Gen. MacArthur's ideas and those of the Truman administration which led the president to oust MacArthur early today.

MacArthur has supporters, particularly among Republicans in congress. Boiled down, this is the MacArthur school of thought:

1. Although this country and its Atlantic Pact partners are making big plans for defense of Europe, in case Russia attacks there, the big fight against Communism has to be made in Asia.

2. MacArthur's hands were tied. He was not permitted to use his full strength in the Korean war against the Chinese Communists or to fight it the way he, as general in command, thought best. If this continues there can only be a stalemate, with men and materials chewed up needlessly.

Here's Opposite View

Boiled down, this is the opposite viewpoint:

1. A lot more than just the fighting in Korea is at stake, possibly outbreak of war in Europe. The great danger is Russia, not China, so we can't afford to get too deeply involved in Asia, such as all-out war with China, which we might do if MacArthur were allowed free reign.

2. The United Nations which are in the Korean fighting with this country—keeping their eye on the European powder keg—are hoping to find an end to the fighting in Korea by reaching some settlement with China that would let them concentrate on Europe. But if MacArthur followed his ideas, such peace might be impossible.

"Mac" Popped Off

3. Further, the Truman administration was miffed at MacArthur for repeatedly popping off with suggestions which might upset this country's other plans for Europe, and perhaps spoiling chances of peace with China. That finally led to his dismissal.

To see the situation, look at geography:

The only part of China which touches Korea is Manchuria. It runs along the whole northern Korean border. All the men and supplies which the Chinese pour into Korea have to move down through Manchuria.

Also, the Chinese reserves and supplies are based in Manchuria. And any planes which the Chinese have, given them by Russia, have to be based in Manchuria. Russia is Manchuria's other neighbor.

MacArthur wanted freedom to bomb China's Manchurian supplies and bases. If they were smashed, the Chinese in Korea would have tougher going than they've undergone so far.

Wanted Chiang's Aid

But MacArthur was not permitted to do this. He had to do all his fighting against the Chinese inside Korea, with his planes forbidden to cross the border.

Further, MacArthur has con-

$32,000 Suit for Injuries in Crash Filed in Dixon

A $32,000 auto damage suit following a crash July 18, 1950, was filed Tuesday afternoon with Circuit Clerk John O. Shaulis by four persons injured in the crash.

They are Norman C. Miller, Bettie Kay Miller, Phillip Miller and Robert Miller. All are minors. They are represented by their father, Norman C. Miller. All are from Amboy.

Defendant in the case is Joseph Forman. The $32,000 is demanded on five counts. According to the complaint Norman Miller was driving east one-fourth mile west of Amboy on the blacktop road when the Forman car crashed into the other auto head on. The plaintiffs charge Forman was driving on the wrong side of the highway, speeding, lost control of his auto and failed to stop in time.

They ask $2,000 for damage to the car. Bettie Miller seeks $15,000 because she fractured her right clavical and a rib and sustained face and body lacerations.

Robert Miller, Phillip and Norman each seek $5,000 for alleged permanent injuries. Dixon, Bales and Gunner represent the Millers.

Bill Giving Governor Broad Defense Powers Is Approved

SPRINGFIELD, (AP) — Civil defense legislation granting the governor broad emergency powers in the event of atomic attack today bore committee approval in the Illinois general assembly.

So did proposals for an investigation of seditious activities in the state and for denying use of highways to truck operators classed as habitual overweight violators.

The house executive committee speedily okayed the civil defense bill yesterday. It would put the present temporary defense agency headed by Maj. Lenox Lohr on a permanent basis.

Red Inquiry

The proposed $20,000 legislative inquiry into sedition won endorsement of the house appropriations committee. The military and veterans affairs group previously had approved it.

The senate highways and traffic regulation committee favored the truck bill, one in a series of four curbs on "pavement busters" drafted by the Illinois state chamber of commerce.

An operator convicted of 10 overload infractions could be summoned into court for a determination whether his highway-using privileges should be suspended.

Defeat Bill

The entire senate voted overwhelmingly to defeat a bill that would have prohibited non-Illinois residents from suing in state courts for damages occuring outside Illinois.

Sponsors said the bill was sought by the Chicago Bar Association to help trim down heavy court dockets in Cook county.

The senate passed and referred to the house bills to require senate confirmation of appointees to the Illinois public aid, liquor control, athletic and medical center commissions and to the state racing board.

Crime Leader Fischetti Dead At 50 in Miami

MIAMI BEACH, (AP)—Charles Fischetti, 50, one of the leaders of America's underworld, died early today at his luxurious Miami Beach home.

A doctor who had been attending Fischetti for four days said that death was caused by a heart attack. He said there was no doubt it resulted from natural causes.

Fischetti and his brother, Rocco, surrendered nine days ago to the sergeant-at-arms of the U. S. Senate after federal agents had sought them many months to serve them with U. S. Senate crime investigating committe subpoenaes.

Senator Tobey (R-NH), a member of the Kefauver committee, pressed for reopening of the crime probe the day the Fischettis surrendered. Tobey said at that time that "they are kingpins in the gambling world and would contribute a lot of information."

Charles Fischetti was described by the Kefauver committee as one of seven overlords who ruled America's underworld on the basis of strict efficiency and business with an annual $20,000,000,000 take.

His father is dead but his mother lives in Brooklyn and the funeral will be held there.

Fischetti was a cousin of the late Al Capone and had been associated with the Capone outfit since the late 1920's. He once served as Capone's chauffeur.

You Can Help

In outlining how individuals can aid in the national security program, J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, says:

"Espionage may be generally defined as the obtaining of confidential information regarding the national defense and furnishing it to unauthorized persons to the detriment of the United States or the advantage of a foreign power.

"Sabotage is any act designed to destroy or damage national defense materials—to impede production, injure plant premises, to destroy public utilities, or to produce defective national defense goods.

"Under the term 'subversive activities' would be activities on the part of any individual or organization which are intended to forcibly overthrow the American government or to give aid to its enemies.

"The public should be alert to report all information directly to the FBI which relates to the following specific matters: 1. Allegations of espionage, sabotage or subversive activities. 2. Foreign submarine landings. 3. Suspicious parachute landings. 4. Possession and distribution of foreign-inspired propaganda. 5. Theft or unauthorized possession or purchase of large quantities of firearms, ammunition or explosives, or short-wave transmitters and receivers. 6. Poisoning of public water supplies. 7. Chartering of airplanes for flights over restricted areas. 8. Fires and explosions of an unusual nature affecting any phase of the defense program. 9. Suspicious individuals loitering near restricted areas. 10. Possession of radio-active materials.

"The protection of the nation's internal security is a twofold responsibility. It must encompass not only the safeguarding of the nation's secrets and vital areas, but also guarantee that the civil liberties of the citizen himself will not be violated. Private citizens are warned against attempting to conduct their own investigations or engage in the circulation of malicious gossip or idle rumor.

"By making their information available to the FBI and the other interested agencies of the government, without attempts at evaluation or to draw conclusions, private citizens, law enforcement agencies and patriotic organizations will not only be safeguarding the rights of the innocent but will also be making their own important contribution to the nation's general security program."

Our Most Important Safeguard

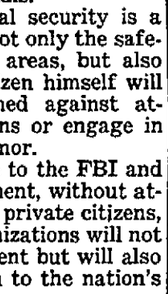
"No dictator can get along with an independent press," writes the Los Angeles Times. This observation was prompted by what happened to La Presno of Buenos Aires, a newspaper which was founded in 1869 and has long had a worldwide reputation for integrity and accuracy. La Prensa achieved a very large circulation and it prospered accordingly. But it did the unforgivable—it was often critical of Juan Peron's dictatorship in Argentina. So finally it has been done to death as a free medium of news and opinion. It has been taken over by Peron's government and is now being run under the supervision of a committee from Peron's rubber-stamp congress. Its distinguished editor, Dr. Gainza Paz, escaped to Uruguay after a close brush with Argentine police who were trying to arrest him.

The press of Argentina, with a single exception, is now wholly controlled by the government. There will be no dissenting voice, no matter what the dictator does.

Of all the safeguards which a people have against oppression, the free press is the most important. It is not a coincidence that every dictator—communist, fascist, or what have you—starts to muzzle the press as soon as he takes over the government. That is a matter of sheer necessity. For when men can speak and publish what they believe to be the truth, injustice cannot long flower. Truth is what all dictators fear the most.

That sentence from the Los Angeles Times editorial should be remembered by everyone: "No dictator can get along with an independent press."

RUTH MILLETT



Even If Dad Won't Help, He's Handy to Have Near

A home economist recently reminded women that just because a man doesn't help with the dishes or other housework, it doesn't mean he isn't contributing directly to family living. She pointed out that a man does something for his children that no woman can do, that he is a personification to his son and daughter of what a man is like.

Any widow or divorcee trying to bring up children alone knows how important that fact is—but wives often tend to overlook it.

When Pop is out in the yard playing ball with Junior, or helping him mend a broken toy, or even letting him listen in while he talks man-talk with a neighbor, Pop is doing something vitally important, much more important than drying the dishes.

And when Pop teases young Susie and let's her know he is on to her feminine tricks but acts as though he enjoys them anyhow and makes her feel she is a very special little girl, Pop is doing another important job. He's letting Susie practice her essential femininity on his masculinity.

CONTRIBUTES LOTS

So no matter how little he seems to do around the house a father contributes a lot to family living. Even if he is just praising a good meal, he is doing something for both Junior and Susie.

He is teaching Junior that women like to have their efforts praised—that the way to get along with them is to show them plenty of appreciation.

And he's teaching Susie, by the way his wife responds to his praise, that it's pretty nice to be a woman and that being able to cook a delicious meal is a real accomplishment.

IN HOLLYWOOD

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)— Movies Without Popcorn:

Mood music is back on the movie lots and Shelley Winters has it.

What was good enough for Gloria Swanson, Lillian Gish and Pola Negri in the silent days is just the ticket in 1951 for Shelley, by heck.

While Director George Sherman gives instructions to Richard Conte on the set of "Fiddler's Green," Shelley bends an ear to a portable gramaphone and a record of "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows." But the soulful look vanishes from the blond beauty's orbs as the camera starts to whir.

"How do I look in this sweater?" Shelley asks, squinting past the strong lights. "I gotta put a little sex appeal into this picture. Look, they put rubber lifts on my heels. Hey, they can't do that to me! I'm a noisy-type actress."

* * *

There's an echo of the era of putteed directors and the crank camera on the set of Fox's "Anne of the Indies," too.

Jean Peters, disheveled and grimy as a lady pirate, is outdoing Pearl White and Ruth Roland.

Firemen stand around with extinguishers while special effects men set fire to the sails of Jean's ship. Smoke pours over the top structure mounted on a hydraulic lift to stimulate the ocean's roll, and fiery, flaming pieces of canvas fall all around the star.

A set visitor congratulates Jean on her iron nerves and tells her she looks like a cross between Jane Russell and Faith Domergue in her costume.

"Wrong," laughs Jean, expanding her chest and striking a dering-do pose. "I look just like Tyrone Power."

SOB STORY

Eleanor Parker, Kirk Douglas and Horace MacMahon are the principals rehearsing a scene for "Detective Story" at Paramount. Director William Wyler huddles before the players and listens to Eleanor, in the role of Kirk's wife, confess tearfully to a closed chapter in her past life.

I tiptoe around the New York precinct station set, faithfully duplicated down to actual police files on the desks. Even the "Wanted for Murder" posters are the McCoy.

* * *

The clank of movie swordplay shatters the air on the set of Allied Artists' "The Highwayman"—the film version of the famous Alfred Noyes poem. Wanda Hendrix stands by in her barmaid costume while Philip Friend, Dan O'Herlighy and Victor Jory jab and thrust against the background of a torture dungeon. During the scene, character actor Cecil Kellaway is accidentally slashed across the cheek.

"Goodie," says a youngster in a cowboy outfit who's watching the scene with his mother. "REAL BLOOD!"

* * *

Acrobats, jugglers, unicyclers and animal trainers are in the background on a backstage set for "The Stooge" as Dean Martin, Jerry Lewis, Polly Bergin and Marion Marshall go through their paces.

Dean is a warbler in the comedy and Jerry is a composite of every vaudeville stooge who ever heckled a headliner. When I ask Jerry how he feels about the box office wonder that "At War With the Army" has turned out to be, he says:

"I pray it should keep on like this. I'm afraid I'm gonna wake and it's all gonna be a dream. We'll be back in that Spanish joint in New York, Dean with his old nose and me flat broke."

SOUTH PACIFIC SETTING

The palms are swaying on Fox's sound stage occupied by "Friendly Island," as Director Edmund Goulding analyzes a dramatic sequence for Gloria de Haven, Bill Lundigan, Mitzi Gaynor and David Wayne. Any minute I expect to see Ezio Pinza and Mary Martin pop out from behind a breadfruit tree and lock hands for a reprise of "Some Enchanted Evening."

Hollywood cuties have been wrapped in sarongs for their native girl roles and I hear one of them complain to an assistant director:

"All I get is sarong parts. I graduated from Emerson High and now I'm trying to graduate from Bali High."

* * *

It's a take on the set of "Peking Express," with Corrine Calvert, Joseph Cotton and Edmund Gwenn playing a scene in a Chinese farmhouse. It's a Marlene Dietrich type of role for Corrine this tme and she plays it with hollow cheeks, square mouth and fringed eyelashes. And there's a gorgeous mink coat, rented by the studio, to add a touch of glamour.

I ask Cotten why Corinne is wearing a mink coat in China.

"Haven't you heard of the mink dynasty?" he winks.

Pegler Describes Building of Garage-Air Raid Shelter at Hyde Park Corner in New York

(Copyright, 1951, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

LOS ANGELES, April 10—Pershing Square a sort of Hyde Park corner across from the Biltmore, has vanished behind a high board fence while big scoops and bulldozers work the earth loose and trucks haul it somewhere away. A parking garage is being dug rather on the order of the one under Union Square, San Francisco. They may also be used as bomb-shelters. The one in San Francisco is four levels deep and could accommodate, in a squeeze, X-thousand people if there were time, composure and organization to get the automobiles out and the people in without a stampede. There seems to be no serious belief that, in a few minutes or even an hour, the cars could be got out and the people let in in good order so there is not much point in pondering what would happen if our gallant allies from Moscow should conk the cave smack on the roof with a boss pineapple, or if good old Joe should plunk one in the bay and atomize a mile-high column of spray charged with the medicine that makes people feel just awful, if any.

Westbrook Pegler

The Union Square garage in San Francisco is a very gallant try, instigated by merchants owning stylish stores nearby to make things easier for their patrons. It is the cleanest garage you ever did see, and Andrew Lyons, a red-headed foreman, who took me through on a Sunday, showed me not only a gaudy line of motor cosmetics but a laundry, mind you, where they do up the smocks for the men in white. It is a little on the order of a high-tone barbershop in a big hotel and the way they baby cars with hot towels, pedicures for the white-wall tires, and vibrations to tone up the springs makes you wonder what they won't think up next. Mr. Lyons said the boss, who rents the plant from the city of San Francisco, is hell for spotless whites on the help. Get a dab of grease on your coat and in the hopper it goes. The boss is Andrew Pansini, of Los Angeles. But he wants no part of the Los Angeles garage and abri. He has work enough now and, I take it, money enough. Let someone else run the Pershing Square garage and bomb-shelter.

Union Square is a park where, according to my reading of old, a great many persons huddled up for a day or two at the time of the great earthquake, which they always refer to as "the fire." For some reason they still try to deny the earthquake away although fire is just as degrading and many worse mishaps have hit San Francisco since. The A. F. of L. and the C. I. O., for two.

Well, let us get along.

The Los Angeles job, in its present stage, is like a scale-model of an open-pit copper mine. The trucks go down a sort of shelf in the digging and back up to a shovel that shudders with the might of its own effort as it bites. Then it dumps the scoop with a subdued fuss, for there isn't much rock to clatter in the wagon-box and that one pulls out and another comes under and holds still.

There are no pipes or conduits nor, of course, subways under Pershing Square nor were there under Union Square either. But there is no open space in downtown New York that isn't occupied deep into the ground with water and gas and steam, and subways in some places three layers deep so there is just no sense in thinking about it at all. Excuse me for bringing it up.

Years ago, when the Oakies and Arkies were loose in California and some reckless promoters put a proposition on the ballot called "ham 'n' eggs," Pershing Park was a sensitive spot. The Communists got the jump on the square citizens and hte Oakies and Arkies were decribed around the world as sad, ignorant people, as indeed they were, and the resident citizen-taxpayers as harsh and heartless snobs, as they certainly weren't. For, while the Oakies and Arkies were pathetic, they were also as low-down ornery as people ever came.

They drank their bath-water and ate their young and the gentlemen and ladies carried on like Hollywood rich trash, outdoors, even. A lot of these drifted to Pershing Park to hear the Communist plants, and the stridency and hubbub amid the mangy old cabbage palms went on far into the night. There were also, however, the normal complement of home-talent theologians, phrenologists, single-taxers, and tip-of-the-tongue historians who couldn't be stumped. When did Chester A. Arthur take office? Where was Lucy Page Gaston born? We used to have them in the side streets off North Clark in Chicago and many a lesson I learned on hot Saturday nights when draught beer was a nickel. Pershing Square, Los Angeles, became badder and badder as the type of population changed. The old, silent Robinson Crusoes, the tired, Iowa women come to the land of milk and honey sunshine to live out their lives on the proceeds of their lives on the proceeds of their black land back, home, died off or were driven out.

Foreign types nudged in and the police noticed more and more wine-ohs, a horrible kind of drunk who goes nuts all of a sudden. The cry "Jesus Saves" might still be heard above the surf, but Pershing Square became a menace and when the garage is earthed under and covered with sod, the new pattern will provide no forum in the strategic center but a fountain and lily-pond instead.

—Evening Telegraph employes are working overtime this month to bring you the largest single edition of a newspaper ever published in the midwest. It will consist of 270 pages and will mark 100 years of Telegraph service to the Dixon community. Watch for it on May 1.

Q—Why is the day before Ash Wednesday called Pancake Day?

A—The holiday pancakes had their start as "shriving cakes." At the tolling of the bell, housewives in old England rushed to prepare pancakes according to a prescribed formula. The Doctor Says:

Better Do Something Fast If You Have Stomach Ulcer

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

During times of personal stress or national crises there is an increased likelihood of developing an ulcer of the stomach. With the world in turmoil and with practically none of us perfectly calm and contented about our personal problems, it seems probable that a whole new crop of ulcers will arise.

These ulcers can develop either in the stomach itself or in that part of the intestine immediately below the stomach known as the duodenum. Both may be called peptic ulcer, though they do not behave exactly alike, are not treated the same way, and possibly have somewhat different origins. Nevertheless they are similar since in both a part of the inside lining is eaten away and the acid in the stomach secretions interferes with healing.

Peptic ulcers may come on slowly or rapidly, may be large or small, may be located one place or another. All these things enter into the symptoms, the ease of diagnosis, and the treatment. But they are alike in being irritated by too much acid in the gastic juice and needing time for the ulcerated area to heal over.

It is most distressing to receive letters from people having symptoms which might well mean the presence of an ulcer but who do not seem to want to do much about it. Yet that happens frequently, perhaps because they expect an ulcer to be more painful than it actually is. Many ulcers, for example, cause only a slight amount of pain or none at all, and yet should be treated just as carefully as those which are causing worse symptoms.

DON'T NEGLECT IT

Actually any strange sensation in or near the stomach should raise the suspicion of ulcer. The most common is pain—but usually one which is not present all the time.

As a rule (but not always) this pain is absent on getting up in the morning but is likely to come on about one to three hours after meals. Often it will go away if milk is drunk or some food is taken.

The pain varies in unpleasantness. Sometimes it is little more than a vague feeling of discomfort, other times it may be sharp and severe. In neither case should it be neglected.

Dr. Jordan will answer questions from his readers in a special column once a week. Watch for it.

Train Hits Coach In Fog; 2 Killed

MUNDELEIN, Ill., (AP) — A two-car North Shore train crashed into a standing coach in a fog today, killing the motorman and injuring several other crewmen.

Jeffries Carter, motorman from Waukegan, was killed. Sheriff's police said four others were injured.

Walter Atkinson, Lake county sheriff, said two empty cars were being moved from Highwood to Mundelein in preparation for the day's commuter service when the train hit a single car on the main line.

Mundelein is about 30 miles northwest of Chicago.

TVA Seeks to Up Power Production

Arrested for Holdup, Says He's Murderer

CHICAGO, (AP)—Police today discounted a 19-year-old youth's oral statement that he killed a young housewife in a holdup March 9.

The youth, identified by police as Charles Howell, was held for further questioning.

Detective Sgt. Francis Shine said Howell was seized last night as he was driving away from a robbed gas station on the southwest side. He said Howell had a police record dating back to 1946.

Shine said that as Howell was collared the youth blurted out: "As long as you got me, you might as well know that I killed a woman up on Brompton place."

Mrs. Lorraine Brownstein, 30, mother of two, was found shot to death and robbed in the vestibule of her apartment at 711 Brompton av.

Capt. John T. O'Malley, deputy chief of detectives, and Lt. John Golden, head of the homicide detail, said Howell's story of slaying the woman had been checked and "we don't think he did it. He'll have to come up with a lot more before we can take his story seriously."

Sherlock Holmes lovers are interested in news from London of plans for a new building on the traditional site of 221-B, Baker Street. This "home" of the great detective was bombed out during the war.

Henry Kaiser On Honeymoon

SANTA BARBARA, CALIF., (AP)—Industrialist Henry J. aKiser, 68, who says he fell in love with Nurse Alyce Chester, 34, because of the unfailing service and devotion she gave his late wife, is honeymooning with the nurse today.

They were married at the First Congregational church yesterday with relatives and a few intimate friends attending. Then the newlyweds took off in Kaiser's private plane for Miami, Fla., and a two-week honeymoon in Jamaica.

Kaiser's first wife, Mrs. Bess Fosburgh Kaiser, 64, died last March 14, after a prolonged illness.

Public Service Gets Okay on New Gas Rates

Commercial Users Hiked; Resident Rates Down 14%

CHICAGO, (AP) — The Illinois Commerce Commission has granted the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois authority to increase gas rates to industrial users by $900,000 and reduce rates to residential and small commercial users by the same amount.

The increase will be levied on large firms which use the gas on an "interruptible and off-peak basis." The new rates go into effect at midnight, April 14.

Approximately 380,000 residential and small commercial gas users and 116 large firms will be affected by the new rates, the company said.

The average reduction for general residential customers will be 14 per cent, the company etimated.

Truck Drivers Work Too Long, Charges Filled

DANVILLE, (AP)—The government has filed a criminal information against the Ecoff Trucking company of Fortville, Ind., for letting its drivers work too long at a stretch.

The action was filed in federal court yesterday.

It accused the company of letting its men run the trucks a longer period, of failing to make drivers keep proper driving records and of falsifying monthly reports on driving hours.

A federal law requires that drivers of trucks operating in interstate commerce may not drive for more than 10 consecutive hours within a 24-hour period without having a rest period of eight hours.

There are some 40 or 50 branches of the Baker Street Irregulars in the United States. Bearing names associated with the Sherlock Holmes adventures, their members meet once a year to keep green the name of the great detective.

Mrs. Jacob Buch And Tilly, Recall Visit to Belgium

A birthday long to be remembered by Tilly Buch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Buch, Rt. 1, Dixon, will be her second, as this was celebrated in Tirlemont, Belgium, with a party. Tilly and her mother returned recently from a six months visit in Tirlemont with Mrs. Buch's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Brysbaert and other relatives. The party was much the same as one held here in Dixon would be.

TILLY

Nov. 29, Tilly's birthday, was an important day to her as was Dec. 6 when Santa Claus came to visit. Dec. 6 is Santa Claus day in Belgium and the old gentleman arrived dressed as a bishop of the Catholic church. At this time he brings gifts to the children. On Dec. 25 the Christmas man comes bringing gifts for both adults and children.

Mrs. Buch and her young daughter went to Belgium on the S. S. Europa which took eight days and came home on the Queen Mary which took six days. When they arrived in Belgium the ship couldn't dock in Antwerp because of the strike in the harbor so they had to depart from the ship in Rotterdam, Holland, where they were met by Mrs. Buch's father who is employed by the government in Tirlemont.

THE BRYSBAERTS

Here Since 1948

In the United States since Jan. 28, 1948, the former Renee Brysbaert was married Feb. 9 of that year to Jacob Buch in Dixon. They met while he was stationed near Tirlemont with the army in 1944. He is employed by the National Tea store, Dixon and the Medusa Cement plant.

While visiting her homeland, Mrs. Buch also attended the wedding of her brother, Marcel. Mrs. Buch, who is a member of the Dixon War Bride's club, says, "It was wonderful to return home and see my parents, but it is even more wonderful to be back in the United States, in Dixon."

ST. AGNES GUILD

St. Agnes Guild will meet at 2 p. m. Friday in the guild rooms. Rummage is to be brought in at this time to be arranged for the sale to be held Saturday, April 14 in the guild rooms.

There will be a social hour with Mrs. Agnes Cledon as hostess.

Auxiliary of Legion Tells Of Loan Fund

According to Mrs. Iva Callahan, president of Dixon Unit of the American Legion auxiliary, the women of the auxiliary believe that the peace of the world depends upon the strength of the United States. They believe "education is the strength and first line of defense" of the nation.

In offering tangible evidence of its interest in promoting education, the Illinois Department through its Auxiliary Loan Fund and National Security programs offers annual scholarships for the education of orphans of veterans. Candidates for these scholarships must be high school girl graduates, children of veterans, who wish to continue their studies and who meet the requirements for the scholarships and show the need for such assistance.

The Auxiliary Loan Fund, Illinois' own special educational program, is a revolving fund created to be used in giving necessary assistance in furthering their education, to children of veterans of both world wars and honorably discharged veterans of World War II, who come properly recommended. Loans amounting up to $700.$$ per applicant are authorized by the Loan Fund Board of Trustees. In addition, the American Legion Auxiliary Opportunity Scholarship, valued at $375, is awarded the winner of an annual contest based on certain requirements and qualifications of scholarship, basis of need and proper recommendations.

The National President's Scholarship amounting to $600 is also offered annually on the same requirements as the Illinois Opportunity Scholarship. One application covers both.

Under its National Security program the Auxiliary offers an annual scholarship, amounting to $200. Candidates must be interested in continuing their education in the field of world peace (history major, political science or economics). High school seniors or graduates interested in competing for one of these scholarships should contact Mrs. Iva Callahan, president of the Local Unit, for details. There ore no examinations, candidates simply make application and attach certain data required for judging qualifications.

Applications for loans should be made to the local Auxiliary Loan Fund Chairman, Mrs. Dewey Adolph.

Barbara Siebolt Wears White for Sunday Wedding

When Miss Barbara Siebolt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy E. Moulton, Rt. 1, Franklin Grove became the bride of Arlyn Lawrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Lawrence, Rock Falls, she was given in marriage by her grandfather, John T. Emmitt. The Rock Falls Methodist church was the scene of the wedding Sunday afternoon with Rev. Harry E. Shiffer, officiating at the 3 p. m. double ring ceremony. Rev. Paul Gilbert pronounced the benediction for the wedding attended by 250 guests.

Ferns, palms and baskets of yellow, white and orchid snapdragons tied with green ribbons decorated the church as did four standard candelabra and Tiffany baskets of lilies and snapdragons. Charles Payne, church organist, played a prelude of wedding music preceding the ceremony. Vocalist, Miss Joan Meyers sang, "I Love Thee"; "Through the Years" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's three attendants were Mrs. Fred Fess of Northbrook, as matron of honor and Mrs. William Wolber of Sterling, and Miss Carol Moede of Rock Falls, as bridesmaids. Stephenie Lawrence of Walnut, was flower girl.

Three close friends of the bridegroom attended him, Gene Rutledge, best man, and Jim King and Dick Bradshaw, groomsmen. Ushers were Fred Fess, Northbrook, and Claire Freeman.

White Satin Gown

White bridal satin and Chantilly lace were combined into a gown for the bride. The gown had a long train, Peter Pan collar, lace yoke, fitted bodice fastened down the front with small satin covered buttons, and long sleeves pointed over the hands. The bridal veil of Chantilly lace, edged in nylon illusion, was fingertip and attached to a tiara of glazed lilies of the valley and jonquils. In her colonial bouquet were white roses, daisies and stephanotis, with an orchid center corsage. The bridegroom's gift was pearl earrings.

The matron of honor wore a green taffeta gown with a bertha collar edged in lace, net yoke and full skirt. Her flower tiara was of yellow daisies and greenery to match her colonial bouquet of jonquils and orchid sweet peas. Elbow mitts matching her gown completed her attire.

Identically styled gowns to the matron of honor's gown were designed for the bridesmaids, Mrs. Wolber being in yellow and Miss Moede in orchid. Their flower tiaras and bouquets were in matching colors. The little flower girl was in a white satin dress and a white satin Juliet cap. She carried a basket of rose petals.

Mothers of the bridal pair wore camellia corsages with their gowns. The bride's mother was in a navy blue sheer over taffeta and the bridegroom's mother chose navy sheer with a small floral print. Both had a navy accessories.

Wedding Reception

A beautiful canopy was arranged in the dining room of the church, of orchid, yellow and green streamers caught in the center with a large white wedding bell for the reception. During the reception hour Miss Glenna Pohly played selections on the flute with Miss Nancy Lutz accompanying on the piano.

On the refreshment table was a five tiered wedding cake. Friends of the bridal couple assisting with the serving were: Mrs. Lowell Sandrock, Mrs. Wayne Cox and the Misses JoAnn Reinhart and Nola Quantock. Mrs. L. S. McCord cut the cake, assisted by Mrs. LeRoy Tompkins, Mrs. Earl Thicksten and Mrs. Meredith Anderson of Prophetstown, poured, and the bride's book was the duty assigned to Miss JoAnn Stevens.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence are graduates of Rock Falls Township high school. She is employed at the Rock Falls National bank and he is a heavy machine operator with his father.

To Florida

After honeymooning in Florida for two weeks, the newlyweds will reside in Rock Falls. For traveling Mrs. Lawrence wore a gray and yellow checked suit with a gray hat and black accessories and an orchid corsage.

Telegraph Issues Last Call To Centennial Advertisers

An urgent call was issued today by the advertising department of the Dixon Evening Telegraph to merchants, industries and professional men who wish to place an advertisement in the forthcoming centennial edition to be published Tuesday, May 1st.

"Every effort has been made to contact all potential advertisers in Lee, Ogle and Bureau counties," said Roy H. Morton, advertising director of this newspaper, "but in order to avoid any unintentional oversight we urge anyone interested in reserving space for this edition to contact the advertising department immediately. No advertisements can be accepted after this week."

* * * *

Nearly 200 advertisers have already placed messages in the centennial edition and it is believed that this edition will set a nation-wide record in many categories of retail, industrial and institutional promotons.

The centennial edition of the Dixon Evening Telegraph will be distributed not only to the regular subscribers, but will also be purchased by thousands of additional families in the local area and from coast to coast.

* * * *

Industries, advertising agencies and periodicals throughout the nation will also be receiving copies of this newspaper and it is expected that more Telegraphs will be distributed on May 1st than at any time in the history of this newspaper. There is no additional premium rate for advertising space in the centennial edition.

Morton also stated that all salesmen for the Telegraph had concluded their calls and he urged anyone who may have been missed to phone immediately and not wait for a representative.

Letters Cite Serious Need Of Buildings

Mitchell, Eichler, Lindquist, Hey, Prescott Write

Letters advocating passage of the $1,600,000 bond issue to build two new grade schools in Dixon were received by The Telegraph today from the commander of the American Legion, a city commissioner, president of the chamber of commerce, president of the junior chamber of commerce, and president of the Rotary club.

John W. Mitchell, Legion commander, writes, "We in the American Legion carry out an extensive program in child welfare—so when the proposition of a new school is broached—there just isn't any alternative for us—we, as Legionnaires, want the new schools and herein ask the public in general to vote for the same.

Reasons Cited

"There are many reasons for the existing need of new grade schools in Dixon—mainly three: (1) a child's physical well-being; (2) a child's need for proper environment and basic instructions, and (3) a child's recreation. In general, can either the North Central school or the Loveland fill these three needs—of course, the answer is NO.

"Saturday is the day to decide that these kids in Dixon will have a decent school."

The letter from Commissioner Lindquist reads in part: "Basic Americanism requires that each generation make a contribution towards the future, and while this varies from time to time through the means at hand, it seems to me that this present generation in Dixon is called on to do something about our schools. Our free way of life requires eternal vigilance and the schools and churches certainly are part of the fabric of freedom.

Will Enhance Value

"As a taxpayer in Dixon, I feel that it is required of me to support a constructive effort for community betterment. I know that this improvement will enhance the value of all Dixon property and it will furthermore show that the citizens of Dixon do go ahead in an orderly manner towards building and improving the town."

James O. Hey, president of the junior chamber of commerce wrote: "In these days of high living costs and soaring taxes, the thought of entering into anything as large in its scope as building schools seems frightening. However, it is essential that as thoughtful citizens we weigh the merits carefully. Our government and other governments of the world are spending billions upon billions for destruction.

"Cannot Fail "

"Certainly the meager amount spent for education throughout these United States is none too large. We in Dixon want our children brought up with education that is not found lacking upon completion. These same children going through our schools will some day shape the destinies of the United States and the world. We cannot fail to do our part and vote YES to give these future citizens the best chance to get the best in education in schoolrooms that are pleasant and not overcrowded."

A letter from Victor Eichler, president of the chamber of commerce states: "Few things are more important to the character and welfare of a community than are adequate schools. We have known for many years that our elementary schools in Dixon are fire hazards inadequate to accommodate the increasing number of students, lacking in proper utility rooms, deteriorating from age. It seems preferable to build new modern school buildings rather than reconstruct or add needed rooms to existing buildings which are obsolete."

Prescott Writes

The letter from Lyle M. Prescott, president of the Dixon Rotary club reads: "Our first line of defense against Communism is an educated and informed youth. This can only be attained by providing the proper school buildings and facilities to make this education possible. Your tax dollars ore your fighting dollars and the youth of today are your insurance for a continued American way of free life tomorrow.

"By casting your vote FOR the bond issue Saturday you will make possible the construction of two new, modern schools which will replace the fire traps and hazardous structures which now endanger the lives of our children every day."

Dixon Youth Gets Year In Vandalia

PRINCETON—James Bates Jr., 21, Dixon, was sentenced to a year in the state farm at Vandalia here Tuesday on a charge of tampering with a vehicle.

Bates, indicted by the Bureau county April grand jury for car theft, appeared before Circuit Judge Louis A. Zearing and entered a plea of not guilty.

However, his attorney, Roger V. Pierson, Princeton, appointed by the court, entered a motion to have the larceny charge changed to "tampering." It was granted. Bates then changed his plea and was sentenced.

Council Approves Survey of Traffic at Galena-Fifth

The Dixon city council Tuesday night approved plans for a traffic survey at the corner of S. Galena avenue and Fifth street to determine whether traffic signals are needed to protect children en route to South Central school.

The survey will be made by state highway department engineers as S. Galena avenue is a state highway. Any signals that will be installed must be approved by the state.

The junior chamber of commerce presented a 13 point safety program to the council for consideration after Forrest Shawger, safety commissioner, presented plans for the survey and for a signal light at the corner of Everett street and North Galena avenue.

Signal Explained

Shawger said that the signal to be installed will be a semi-actuated one which will halt cars on one street when automobiles approach on the other street. Shawger said a similar light at a six street intersection in Rockford cost $3600. The light will be paid for out of the motor fuel tax funds and will be installed under state supervision.

A survey may be made of the traffic at N. Galena avenue and Morgan street later, but it was not planned at the meeting. The S. Galena avenue survey will begin soon, Shawger said.

Joe Valle, street commissioner, reported that work started Tuesday on repaving a half-mile stretch of E. River street from Crawford avenue to the city limits.

George Lindquist, property commissioner, reported that progress has been made on the retaining wall at the parking lot on River street. He said the wall should be finished in a short time.

George Sarver, 1903 W. Third street complained to the council about speeders in the swimming pool area. Mayor Fred Hofmann directed Shawger to alleviate the situation.

The recommendations presented by the junior chamber of commerce as part of their safety drive this month included placing signs on speed and traffic laws on each road entering the city, creating a through street east and west north of the river.

Recommendations Listed

Making parking parallel on Ottawa avenue, restricting trucks making pickups and deliveries in the business district Friday afternoon and Saturday, repairing street signs, restricting parking near intersections, placing speed signs on W. First street and W. Third treet and cracking down on violators on these streets.

Placing a four-way stop at N. Galena avenue and Everett street, controlling traffic on Brinton avenue, repairing blacktop streets in the business area, marking pedestrian crossings and discouraging jaywalking, and erecting a city safety committee.

New Law Firm Enters Bell Suit

An Ogle county law firm, Fearer and Nye, Tuesday afternoon stepped into the $15,750 damage suit against Donald Bell, 26, Polo which arose following the death of Clyde Henley Dec. 24.

The damages are demanded because Henley died following an auto accident involving Bell. The suit was filed by Rennie Henley, Dixon, a brother of the deceased.

The law firm of Warner and Warner yesterday withdrew from the case in circuit court action. After Judge George C. Dixon granted the withdrawal, a notice of appearance was filed by Fearer and Nye by Gerald W. Fearer.

The suit is scheduled for trial next Wednesday . Bell also is charged with reckless homicide in the Henley death. Their cars collided just south of Woosung Dec. 22

Ridgway Lean, Hard-Bitten Soldier, Likes Front Lines

Colorful Sicily, Normandy Veteran Wears Live Grenade Taped to Shoulder

U. S. 8th ARMY HEADQUARTERS, KOREA—(AP)—Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, successor to General MacArthur as United Nations commander in Korea and occupation chief of Japan, is a lean, hard-bitten soldier.

The 56-year-old paratroop veteran of Sicily and Normandy garnishes his uniform with a live grenade. Worn taped to his shoulder, it has become as much a trademark as the late Gen. Patton's pearl handled six-shooters.

But Ridgway has more than color. In less than four months since he took command of allied ground forces in Korea Dec. 27, he has whipped a defeat-ridden army into a winning team.

Likes Front Lines

Ridgway is no rear echelon general. He has been bitten by the frontline flea. Moving back and forth across the front with a compact staff, he has directed his drive against the Reds from forward command posts.

Allied forces were near their lowest ebb in Korea when Ridgway took command. Only a few days later, the Chinese launched their massive New Year's Eve offensive across the Imjin river north of Seoul.

Ridgway ordered a fast retreat, deliberately withdrawing to regroup his disorganized divisions.

In late January Ridgway launched his first drive, a limited offensive aimed to kill Reds, not win ground.

Tactics Paid Off

His tactics paid off. Allied troops piled high the Communist dead along ridgelines and hilltops and in the valleys of South Korea.

Then in February the Chinese struck fiercely in a new offensive aimed at the center of the line near Gongchon and Wonju.

While the Chinese attack was underway, Ridgway planned and ordered a new offensive. It jumped off Feb. 21 and has pushed steadily northward ever since.

Today, most of the front is once again in North Korea.

A 1917 West Point classmate of Gen. Lawton Collins, army chief of staff, Ridgway was Collins' deputy chief of administration before he came to Korea.

Ridgway's classmates at the Point knew him as a man of energy. The year-book called him "the busiest man in the place."

His personality outside of direct command is quiet. He is notably courteous and polite to junior officers. He sets visitors at ease with quiet humor and twinkling eyes. His style of talking is in staccato phrases and in a low quiet voice.

'Mac' Fired...

Joseph H. Short at a hastily summoned White House news conference.

The president told MacArthur he is free to "travel to such places as you select" — thus freeing the general to return to this country after an absence of nearly 14 years.

In addition to the heretofore secret messages, orders sent out shortly before midnight to bring about the spectacular shakeup in the Far East were also released.

The secret message file showed MacArthur had been covered in a general Presidential order last Dec. 6, clamping down on policy statements by all government officials. He had been bluntly reminded of this by Mr. Truman's direction on March 24, after issuing his famous bid to the Red commander in Korea to talk peace as UN forces reached the 38th parallel.

Meanwhile, on March 20, the record showed, MacArthur had sent to house Republican Joe Martin (Mass.) the letter endorsing Martin's idea of using Chinese Nationalist troops on Formosa to open a "second front" against Red China, and adding his own conviction that Asia rather than Europe is the critical theater of conflict with world Communism. Martin released the letter last week.

There was also an exchange of messages between the joint chiefs of staff and MacArthur, on the question of arming Korean troops. This showed MacArthur raising a serious question whether more Koreans should be armed in view of weapons needs for the developing Japanese police.

Thus the White House sought to meet a MacArthur statement last weekend that the recent release of 120,000 South Koreans from military units was the result of a policy decision made in Washington and beyond his power to control.

Spring Snows Strike Central Part of Nation

(By the Associated Press)

The tailend of the spring snowstorm which swept the Rocky Mountain states brought rain and snow to wide areas of the central part of the country today.

It was below freezing over parts of the Midwest and the Rockies. The cold air from Canada, accompanied by strong northerly winds, spread southward over most of Texas.

The coldest spots were in Montana, Colorado, Wyoming, North Dakota and Minnesota. But it was on the cool side over most of the North Central region. The far southwest was having hot weather—and it was mild over most of the southeastern states.

The snowfall in northern Minnesota was light as compared to the fall which measured nine inches at Boulder, Colo., eight inches in Denver and four inches in parts of Wyoming and Montana.

Rain fell today from the Central Plains and middle Mississippi valley northward through Iowa and Minnesota. Rain also was reported in New England and parts of New York.

More rain fell in Minnesota, South Dakota and Iowa where spring floods have made thousands homeless and caused more than $3,000,000 damage to property.

But the Minnesota river, which has caused the most damage and forced some 5,000 persons from their homes in North Mankato, appeared loosing its flood power. Refugees talked of soon returning to their homes.

The industrial cities of Antung, Manchuria, and Sinuiju, Korea, face each other across the Yalu river 15 miles from its mouth.

Pros - Cons

tended Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalist troops on the island of Formosa should be used against the Chinese Communists.

Formosa is separated from the Chinese mainland by a narrow strip of water. Chiang holed up there with the remnants of his Nationalist troops when the Communists drove them off the mainland.

Turning them loose against the Chinese mainland now would be opening up a second front in the Korean war. This country would have to supply those troops. That would be quite a drain and it would end hope of peace with the Communists.

How Many Troops?

(Now how many troops in Chiang's army on Formosa? That's an open question. Every time you hear the number, it's different from the last time. It ranges from 800,000 down to around 400,000.)

MacArthur fumed and fussed about the restraints placed on him and the fact that his supplies of men were not greater. He argued the problem in Asia needed more attention.

He wasn't happy about the role given Asia during World War II either. After the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, this country sent troops and ships into the Pacific where MacArthur was big boss.

But it concentrated on putting its main strength into fighting Germany in Europe first, where General Eisenhower was big boss. When Germany fell, full American strength was turned on Asia.

Now MacArthur was once again in a war in Asia. This time as commander of the UN forces. And once again Eisenhower was big boss in Europe. He's commander of the international army being put together by this country and its Atlantic Pact partners.

OTTAWA, (AP)—A sweeping jump in Canada's federal taxes, averaging around 16 per cent, was proposed last night by finance minister Douglas Abbott in his 1951-52 preparedness budget.

The main provisions included a boost in the general sales tax from eight to 10 per cent and an overall 20 per cent hoist in the income tax rate.

Grayson Clambers Onto Limb, Picks Indians, Giants to Win

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Who d'ya like in the pennant races, who'll bounce down in front in the fall?

If the Red Sox can't make it with Scarborough, Wight and Boudreau, there ought to be a saliva test, or something, but this observer has been around too long to go for an old saw. The Bosox will manage to find a way. They always have.

The Yankees probably will win by force of habit, but this handicapper is getting away from the Bombers, too.

It's going to be a new deal all around, men, with the Indians and Giants winning exciting four-club races.

Here is what the crystal ball shows:

AMERICAN	NATIONAL
Cleveland	New York
Boston	Brooklyn
New York	Philadelphia
Detroit	Boston
Washington	St. Louis
Philadelphia	Cincinnati
Chicago	Chicago
St. Louis	Pittsburgh

Cleveland will be steadier under Al Lopez.

Indian pitchers have led the

Al Lopez Leo Durocher

American League in effectiveness the past two years.

With Suitcase Simpson, who manufactured 33 in the Pacific Coast League in left field, the Tribe shoots at the circuit's seasonal home run record of 182.

Snuffy Stirnweiss is on hand to straighten out any trouble which may arise in connection with the double play.

The Giants were the best club in baseball from mid-stream on last trip.

Durocher Convinces

Leo Durocher has convinced them that he is doing something for them as well as himself.

The big question is, "Will Jim Hearn and Sal Maglie pick up where they left off?"

The same query could be put about any of the contenders, and you've got to ride along with the New York side's momentum, especially with 77 games at the Polo Grounds with its Chinese foul lines.

With Art Houtteman in olive drab, the Tigers start with a minus 19.

Joe DiMaggio indicates that this may be his last time out with the Yankees, and first and third bases are uncertain. Mickey Mantle may be marvelous, but even if the Army doesn't take him, the Joplin Jolter has to learn his way around. The pitching shortage could extend beyond the absent Whitey Ford.

If Erv Palica is called by the armed forces, Chuck Dressen may hurt his eyes looking for Brooklyn pitching beyond Newcombe and Roe. There are the familiar stories centering around left field and third base.

Kids Grow Older

Philadelphia's Whiz Kids are a year older, but are without Curt Simmons, and you saw what happened to them last summer, when the slick southpaw marched off with the National Guard. It's no longer Spahn and Sain and pray for rain on the National League side in Boston. Vern Bickford then goes to work, but outside of the Big Three, the Braves are not spectacular.

The Cardinals still have Musial, Slaughter and Schoendiest, but holes show elsewhere, and the pitching staff is incredibly antique. The Reds, especially with Ewell Blackwell, are capable of stirring up trouble.

The others couldn't get any higher with DiMaggio, Williams, Kiner and Rosen.

Old Bill Tilden Loses Exhibition Singles Match

MODESTO, Calif., (AP)—Aging Bill Tilden returned to the tennis courts last night and dropped a long singles exhibition to George Rodgers, 13-15. Tilden, in his 58, was world champ three decades ago.

Frankie Parker defeated Ed (Pancho) Gonzales 16-14. Both are former Robert Riggs touring pros.

They got the doubles over with a little quicker. Tilden-Parker defeated Rogers-Gonzales 6-2.

Schwartz Named Illini Wrestling Captain for '52

CHAMPAIGN, (AP) — Illinois 1952 wrestling team captain is Martin Schwartz, 177 pounder from Quincy.

Schwartz was elected at the team's annual banquet last night. He succeeds Dick Picard of Champaign who won the Newt Law award as "most valuable" for 1951. The award is in memory of the late Illini wrestling coach who died last year.

Richard Lopez of Moline was chosen the outstanding freshman grappler.

Bradley Stars Rap Sterling By 84-52 Count

STERLING—Bradley's touring All-Stars rolled to an easy 84-52 victory over the Sterling All-Stars, a team of local players, by an 84-52 count here Tuesday night in Sterling Coliseum

Gene Melchiorre

After leading only 30-22 at halftime, the Bradley cagers turned on the scoring steam in the third and fourth quarters to score 54 points in the second half.

High scorer of the game, however, was Elwin Duhm, freshman coach at Cornell college, who scored 17 points on eight baskets and a free throw for the Sterling club. Coach Gene Hall of Sterling had five baskets and six free throws for 16 points.

Mainstays in the Bradley scoring picture were All-America Gene Melchiorre, who countered 16 points, and Chuck Grover, who scored the same number on an identical seven baskets and two free throws.

Gals Gird for Weathervane Tee Marathon

DALLAS, (AP)—The Women's Cross-Country Weathervane golf tournament—an event you have to travel 5,000 miles to win—plays its opening 36 holes in Dallas this weekend.

Fred Corcoran, tournament manager of the Women's Professional Golf association who is directing the 144-hole contest, said today there would be 30 top shotmakers here Saturday and Sunday at Lakewood country club.

Heading the list is Babe Didrikson Zaharias of Tampa, Fla., the defending champion, who arrived last night and prepared for practice rounds today.

Miss Suggs Ready

Other professionals already on the scene are Louise Suggs of Carrollton, Ga., runner-up in the first Weathervane last year; Marlene and Alice Bauer of Midland, Tex.; Peggy Kirk of Findlay, O.; Betty Bush of Hammond, Ind.; Shirley Spork of Bowling Green, O., and Betty Hicks of Long Beach, Calif. Bobbie Dawson of Piedmont, Calif., is the first amateur arrival.

Beverly Hanson of Fargo, N. D., the National Amateur champion, arrives today. Tomorrow will find Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Patty Berg, of Minneapolis, Betsy Rawls of Austin, Tex., and Betty MacKinnon of Mt. Pleasant, Tex., coming to town.

Field Moves

From here the field moves to Pebble Beach, Calif., for 36 holes May 5-6; then they play at Indianapolis May 18-19, and the final 36 holes will be at New York May 26-27.

Each 36 holes has $3,000 in prize money with $700 to first place. Winner of the entire tournament gets $5,000. There wil be 10 awards to amateurs.

The six low scorers will go to England and France for tournaments June 9-24.

GEORGIA PITCH — Jim Hearn, whose earned run average was the best in the National League last year, lets his wife, Mary Ann, try on a glove at the Giants' St. Petersburg, Fla., camp. The Hearns call Atlanta home. (NEA)

Jersey Quint Assumes Lead In ABC Meet

ST. PAUL, (AP)—The Marcal Products team of East Paterson, N. J., swept into first place in the team event of the ABC tournament here early today with a blistering finish that totaled 2,992.

Bringing a 980 team average into the tournament, the New Jersey keglers opened with a 952 and then smacked the maples for games of 1,029 and 1,011.

Bill Deandrea led the scoring with a 645 series. But it was the finish put on by Lou Foxie of five sanctioned 300 scores during his bowling career, who put the team into the top seat.

Foxie Hits

Foxie had rolled only 184 and 181 in his first two games but he piled in five strikes at the finish of the third game for a 247 to pick up John Hogan, the team's highest average man at 207, who was running into trouble.

The Marcal bowlers ousted Thompson Heating of Cincinnati which had held the lead with a 2,979. It was the tird total of the tournament—only four days old that was higher than last year's winning figure of 2,952.

The new leader in the team event was the second new pace setter of the day as St. Paul's Adolph Schultz rolled a 696 earlier in the day to take over the top spot in the singles division. Schultz put on a sizzling third game to climb to the top, hitting 258 after rolling 203 and 235 to start his series.

Day Produces Scoring

In other changes during a day of good scoring Frank Esser of Brewster, Minn. took over third place in the singles with a 676.

The doubles team of Otto Jorgenson and Frank Heumiller of Salem, S. D., rolled into second place in the doubles with a 1,246 count. Schultz also moved into fourth place in the all-events with 1,873.

Rochester Seeks Strangle Hold in NBA Playoffs

NEW YORK, (AP) — The Rochester Royals invade the home floor of the New York Knickerbockers tonight in a bid to take a strangle hold on the National Basketball Association final playoffs.

Rochester hold a commanding 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven final round series and a victory tonight would just about wrap it up for the lads from Rochester.

The Knicks' Sweetwater Clifton, a top rebounder is nursing a back injury. The giant Negro is expected to play but his effectiveness will not be up to par.

The fourth game of the series also will be played here. The fifth game, if necessary, will be in Rochester, the sixth here and the seventh in Rochester.

Famechon Shows Ring Polish in Whipping Burgin

CINCINNATI, (AP) — Ray Famechon of France is right back among the leaders in the parade toward a possible featherweight championship boxing bout with Sandy Saddler.

Famechon was up there once before. A month ago, however, he took a second round technical knockout defeat from unknown Eddie Burgin of Cincinnati.

Last night a sharper, a harder-hitting and a smarter Famechon gave the same Burgin a ten-round beating, before a crowd of 8,244 customers who paid a gross of $22,430.75.

Famechon's victory was by a unanimous decision.

Famechon weighed 127½; Burgin 125.

The fight provided an answer to a previous scrap between the two on March 6 in which Burgin won a TKO victory in two rounds. That ended in a misunderstanding over whether Famechon quit or whether he was ordered to stop. Famechon speaks only a few words of English.

Uncle Miltie May Run in Preakness

NEW YORK, (AP)—Dr. Andrew Colando, trainer of the current hot Kentucky Derby choice, Uncle Miltie, said today the colt would be made a supplemental nomination for the Preakness at Pimlico May 19.

"I won't send the nomination in until the last minute," he said. The deadline is April 16. It costs $2,250 to make a horse a supplemental nomination for the $75,000-added Baltimore race, middle jewel in the triple crown.

Uncle Miltie also is eligible for the Belmont stakes, final race in the triple, and like the Derby a $100,000 gallop.

The Duke University basketball team hit on 69.9 per cent of their free throws this season and on 34.7 per cent of their field goals.

Big 10 Baseball Campaign to Start Friday

CHICAGO, (AP)—Six teams, including co-champion Wisconsin, will launch the Big Ten's 1951 baseball campaign this weekend.

The co-champion Badgers play a Friday-Saturday set at Indiana, while Illinois is at Iowa and new contender Michigan State at Purdue.

Michigan, which shared the 1950 crown with Wisconsin, each with a 9-3 record, opens its conference campaign a week later, April 20-21, entertaining Illinois. On the same dates, Minnesota opens at Ohio State and Northwestern begins Big Ten play at home against Iowa.

Weather Handicaps

Conference diamond conditioning was handicapped by one of the most rugged winters and latest springs in midwest history. For instance, Wisconsin finally played its first intercollegiate game of the season last Saturday, defeating Bradley, 7-4.

Although some teams made customary Southern junkets, work on fundamentals generally was slowed by inclement weather at home.

Sophomores will hold the key in the title race at most schools. Wisconsin's three top hurlers are sophomores and three-quarters of the infield will be first-year men.

Michigan expects to play sophs at shortstop and second base, but has a nucleus of veterans including outfielder Leo Koceski, who led the conference in runs scored last season, catcher Pete Palmer and third baseman Gerry Dorr.

Illini Lineup Settled

Perennially strong Illinois has just about settled on a lineup composed of four lettermen, two 1950 reserves and two sophomores, plus a four-man hurling staff including two sophomores. Footballer Dick Raklovitz, a .324 hitter last year, will be at third base.

Iowa, a third place finisher last season, is reported to have good pitching and a well-balanced attack which produced four wins in the Hawkeyes' first six games this year.

Michigan State, making its conference basketball debut, had a spring trip record of 5-2 and is expected to be a strong title contender. Bolstered by return of pitching star Don Colnitis, Indiana may improve over 1950's seventh-spot finish.

Cats Should Shine

Northwestern also should perk with return of pitching regulars Buster Carlson and Doug Bielenberg and first sacker Don Blasius. Ohio State must develop a pitching staff, but has hitting power in second baseman Carl Parrill and third sacker Bob Montebello, who batted .364 and .341, respectively, last season.

Purdue lost eight of last year's 16 lettermen, including pitching ace Mel Henson. As of Monday, the Boilermakers had yet to play a game, having cancelled their Southern tour. Minnesota fashioned a 3-3 record in a tour through the southwest and may prove considerably better than last year.

Cubs, Sox Resume Their Feud Today

MEMPHIS, Tenn., (AP) — The Chicago Cubs will try to even their spring series with a victory over the Chicago White Sox today.

The Sox hold a 2-1 edge in the city rivalry thus far. Cub manager Frankie Frisch plans to use Johnny Schmitz and Bob Schultz on the mound. Paul Richards of the Sox will counter with Lou Kretlow.

The Sox have a doubleheader scheduled tomorrow with their Memphis farm club. Memphis handed the Cubs a 4-1 walloping yesterday. The Sox beat the Birmingham Barons, 6-4, at Birmingham.

Ed McGhee, rookie Sox infielder who was hit on the right wrist by a pitched ball at Chattanooga Monday, is back in uniform. But he won't be able to swing a bat for several days.

HUGH'S VIEWS of SPORTS

By HUGH HOUGH

Carroll Schumacher, Dixon's gift to the Beloit college track squad and one of the outstanding small-college runners in the country, gave Coach Art Bowers' Dixon high school trackmen a short display of his championship form on the Dixon track Tuesday afternoon.

LANKY, RAZOR-SHARP Schumacher, trained down to a greyhound-like 140 pounds, toured two quarter miles while Lon Scofield held the stop-watch. In both quarters he displayed most of the attributes evident in every great distance runner; he had form, speed, stamina and pace.

Before starting on the first quarter, Carroll said he planned to run it in 58 seconds. The watch read 0:58.6 as he passed the finish line.

AFTER RESTING (on the move to keep warm) for a few minutes, he tried another quarter.

"This time I should do it in about 56 seconds," he told Scofield.

Once again he took flight, while the younger Dukes took pause to watch him run. As he passed Scofield again, after circling the track, Lon called out, "You missed it again. The clock says 0:55.8."

SCHUMACHER STILLL was out of breath, but the others watching him grinned at his two-tenths of a second "miss."

The Beloit flyer had just returned Monday from his trip to the Texas relays in Austin which he made with four other Beloit trackmen (including Dixon's Jack Schultz) and track Coach Herb Hodges.

"THE COACH DROVE us down and back and it turned into a pretty long trip before we were home again," Schumacher said. "But the touughest part of it is going to be the schoolwork we have to make up."

According to Schumacher, the roughest part of the Beloit track schedule still lies ahead. This weekend—the Buc runners will appear at the Coe college relays.

WHILE CARROLL had been running, the Dixon coaching corps looked on with envious eyes.

"What we couldn't do with a couple of boys like him on the squad this season," Sam Owens said.

The others nodded in solemn agreement.

THEN BOWERS TOLD us about Schumacher's high school days in a Dixon track uniform.

"You know, I had him running as a hurdler for the first three years he was on the squad," Art said.

"Then in his senior year he came to me one day and said, 'Coach, I think I can earn the team some extra points if you'll let me run in the distance events.'"

"Well, I let him run, and I guess he did win us some points," Bowers continued. "Before he graduated that season all he did was win first place in the state track meet in Champaign.

DEACON DAVIS, Freeport all-stater, the Kable Kolts' elusive protege, is expected to be in the Kolts' lineup when they meet the Beloit Krueger Sport Shop tonight in the Rockford tourney. At least that's what Forrest Kable reported when we checked with him on the phone this morning. The Kolts may need all the help they can get, as the Beloit lineup is studded with such well-known former Beloit college stars as Lou Procter and Johnny Orr.

We received a letter from Dale Senneff, IN Div. league mogul, outlining the loop's eighth annual bowling banquet. It will be held Tuesday April 24 at the Elks club, with serving starting at 6:30. Following the banquet there will be dancing in the Elks ballroom from 9:00 to 12:00, with Jimmy Campbell's orchestra providing the music. The dance is open to all I. N. Div. employes and their partners, and Dale urges all of them to attend as there's no charge for the night's entertainment . . . Bill Killian was the most consistent bowler last night just two-pins off of three alike with 166-163-163 . . . Just when Joe Dempsey began to think seriously of giving up bowling, he popped up with a 501 series last night, and now he's enthused about another year on the lanes . . . It's unusual for all of the keglers on a team to have a game in the ten-pin bracket, and when two teams rolling each other do it, it's doubly so, but Andrews Cities Service and Walder & Rhodes members all came up with one in the 150s, for Andrews Clint Emmert had 154, August Heuman 155, Don Houck 150, J. Woodyatt 152 and Dick Ambrose 152; for Walder & Rhodes, Harold Rhodes 155, John Lichtenheld 151, Ollie Schrock 158, Earl Slagle, Jr., 158 and Don Thomas 154 . . . We might remind you again that this is the last week to turn in your team, doubles and singles entries for the City Association tourney, and that the entry fee should also be paid, in order that Secretary Ed Worley can draw up the schedule for the tournament . . . After a 203 and a 197 in his first two games Les Farster was so nervous he dropped to a 132 final set and Orv Smith for Statistical had the same experience, in a little lower bracket with 178-177 in his first two sets for 355, just about his usual night's work, and then dropped to 115, but in both cases the last games were velvet over their usual series . . . Clarence Welker was the most consistent in the Veterans league just three pins off with 155-155-152 . . . Jim McMillion realizes now that fame is fleeting, after turning in 602 in his Thursday night's appearance the Bowers Insurance keglers turned on him last night and made him dog, with 408 just 194 pins less than his high total of Thursday . . . Ed Garland spaced his sets seven pins with 142-149-156 . . . We heard someone moaning low last night, and discovered it was Paul Van Doosten, bewailing his 431 series in the IN Div. loop, and after the way he took on, we wonder what brother, Harvey's reaction was when he turned in 94-103-108 at the Lanes. The warm weather probably having both of them day-dreaming about baseball.

Musial Faces Pay Slash on $35,000 Raise

Teams Cannot Pay More Than Highest Salary of 1950

(By the Associated Press)

With the exception of Stan Musial, who may lose his $35,000 pay hike, baseball players in general won't be affected by the new government ruling which puts a control on their salaries.

The wage stabilization board in Washington decided yesterday to put a ceiling on baseball salaries. This is what it amounts to:

A baseball team can't pay any player more than it paid its highest-salaried star in 1950.

Stan in Group

Musial, the St. Louis Cardinals' brilliant outfielder, falls into this category.

Last season, Musial, the Cards' highest paid player, received a reported $50,000. This season he reportedly got a $35,000 increase.

But under the rules—which, incidentally, aren't official yet—Musial would lose his pay hike.

The board contends that wages paid players in 1951 must conform generally with club payroll practices in 1950. And, it maintains, it is doubtful if a $35,000 is within the general pattern of increases of the St. Louis club.

Saigh to Ask

In Houston, owner Fred Saigh of the Cardinals said he will ask the board to let Musial keep his raise because "I feel Stan is getting a fair salary."

Musial had no comment.

The ruling, of course, does not apply to all players who have received big increases. George Kell of Detroit is one of these players. He has received a fat pay boost, but, unlike Musial, he can keep every penny of it.

Kell to Survive

Kell's salary was reported to have been upped $15,000 to $45,000. He'll be able to keep all of this because Detroit pitcher Hal Newhouser received $50,000 last year at Detroit's highest-paid player.

Outfielder Al Zarilla and first baseman Eddie Robinson of the Chicago White Sox are not as fortunate. Both figure to lose raises.

Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees ($10,000), Ted Williams of the Red Sox ($125,000) and Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh ($65,000) are not affected since they are getting the same salary as last year.

Williams Sure Of Victory Over Pruden

CHICAGO, (AP)—Lightweight champion Ike Williams, ready for his 17th overweight bout since December, 1949, predicts he will stop 23-year-old Fitzie Pruden in the eighth round of their 10-round non-title scrap in Chicago Stadium tonight.

Williams, who has scored 12 wins in 16 matches since defending his lightweight crown by defeating Freddy Dawson, figures to weigh 144 tonight compared to Pruden's 146.

A crowd of 8,000 is expected with a net gate of about $20,000. Ike, a 3-1 favorite, will collect 27½ per cent of the net and Pruden 25 per cent. Each also will get $1,000 from television-radio proceeds.

FIGHTS

NEW BEDFORD, Mass.—John Cesario, 146, Boston, beat John Cunningham, 146, Baltimore, 10.
CINCINNATI—Ray Famechon, 127½, France, beat Ed Burgin, -, Cincinnati, 10.
HOUSTON—Ed Bertolino, Galveston, Tex., knocked out Paul Reyna, 139, Mexico, 4.

Local rules at the Homewood Golf Course, Ames, Iowa, includes this one: "Do not buy balls on the course. It creates a market for stolen balls."

Atom Energy Cost May Hit 7.5 Billion

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The government's investment in atom energy stands to reach almost $7,500,000,000 this year. And a record peacetime budget is being sought.

This was indicated in testimony which atomic energy officials gave the house appropriations committee to support a request for $1,210,000,000 for the year beginning next July 1. The testimony was made public today.

Hindustani ranks next to English as the most widely used language, according to the National Geographic, with Russian next.

LOSES 30 LBS. WITH RENNEL RECIPE

Mrs. Leo Belcher of 407 S. Locust, Carlinville, Ill. writes, "I am 45 years old and all my life I have been real stout. Rennel Concentrate has truly been a find for me. Thanks to Rennel I have lost 30 lbs. and will continue with it until I get down to what would be a good weight for me."

It's amazing how quickly you can lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's no trouble and costs little. Contains nothing harmful. Ask your druggist for 4 ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into pint bottle and add unsweetened grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. It's that simple. If reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't seem to disappear almost like magic with the first bottle, return it to the manufacturer for your money back. Note how bloat disappears—how much better you feel. Now is the time to reduce. Ask your druggist for Rennel.

GOOD NEWS everywhere you look in the NEW PLYMOUTH

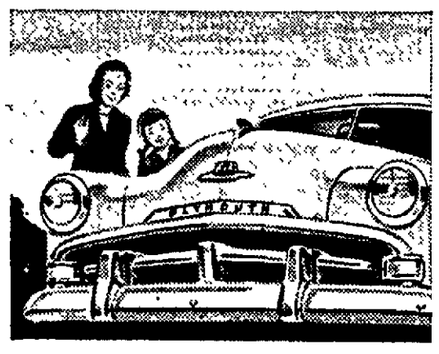
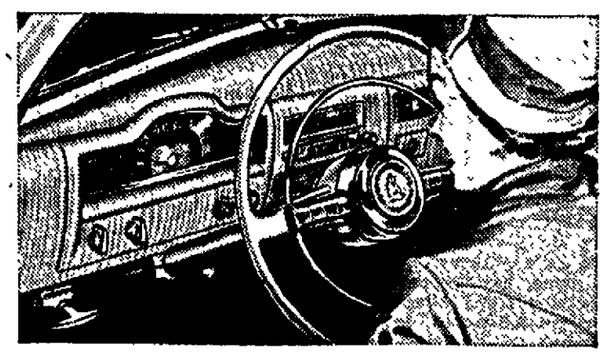
NEW "SAFETY-FLOW RIDE"—stability and safety never possible before! Even when you unexpectedly encounter violent bumps, dips, waves, or holes in the road, you enjoy a smooth and steady motion. You have complete control of the car at all times. "Safety-Flow Ride" comes from new Oriflow shock absorbers working with other engineering features.

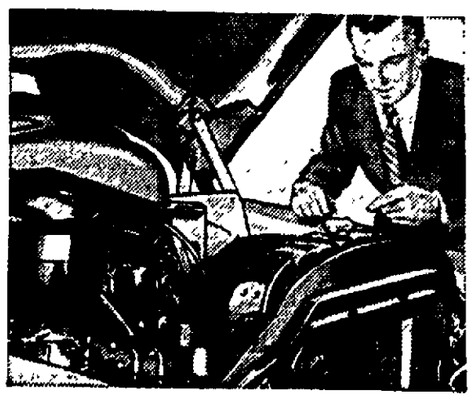
NEW ELECTRIC WINDSHIELD WIPERS, unlike vacuum wipers, clean at a fast, constant speed, even when the engine is under a heavy load. They're standard equipment and with them you're not required to buy a vacuum booster. You enjoy better vision all around, with narrower front corner posts and a 15% larger rear window.



NEW BUMPERS, GRILLE, HOOD. The low-sweeping new hood permits a better view of the road close to the car. Individual grille units are replaceable, so you don't need a whole new grille if only one part is damaged. Also, all four fenders are bolted on; they cost less to repair or replace than fenders which are parts of the body.



NEW INSTRUMENT PANEL AND HAND BRAKE. The new vertical-grain dash harmonizes with a variety of rich interior fabrics and trim. The new "T-handle" hand brake pulls easily, sets positively, and releases at a turn of the handle. The ignition key does three things at once: turns on the ignition, starts the engine, and puts the automatic choke in operation!



NEW ENGINE FEATURES. A new radiator pressure cap increases cooling capacity when you need it most and also helps keep the water or anti-freeze from boiling away. A new by-pass cooling system, standard on all models, gives fast warm-up and yet circulates the coolant so that the engine is fully protected under all starting and driving conditions.

AND MORE GOOD NEWS—AT YOUR PLYMOUTH DEALER'S

This doesn't even begin to tell you the Plymouth Value Story. Your Plymouth dealer wants to tell you more, and he'd like to demonstrate the sensational new "Safety-Flow Ride." So why not stop in, or phone him, today or tomorrow?

New Hormone for Growing Hair to Get First Tests

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

New York, (AP) — The new Philadelphia hormone for growing hair this week embarked on its first wide-scale testing program.

About 800 doctors have written the Philadelphia company requesting samples. Replies are now going out, offering the hormone for investigation and research only.

The hormone was announced Feb. 22 by Albert Roberts, president of the United Research Laboratories. He said it is a pituitary gland hormone, in the form of a cream, which he found while extracting the ACTH pituitary hormone which has no effects on hair, but which in its own way is one of the recent medical sensations.

Roberts said then that his company was not selling the hormone and would not offer it to the public until independent scientific investigation showed its value. Today he repeated that this hormone is not on sale, but that he has had about 10,000 inquiries.

He said the doctors are offered an agreement if they want to test the hair hormone. They agreed to pay the cost of the hormone, and then to make available to the Philadelphia company, all their results. Mr. Roberts said the cost to doctors is $10 for 50 milligrams, which is at the rate of $200 a gram.

An Open Letter To the Voters of Dixon

When you buy a Horse, Automobile, Home, or sack of Groceries, you always like to know what you are getting for your money.

I presume that the average voter feels the same way about his elected public servants. I, having never been a candidate for any public office before being nominated for one of the four commissioners of this city, believe that the voters are entitled to know how I think on various matters confronting the city at this time, and matters due to arise during the next few years.

I believe that my business reputation is one of efficiency, conservatism, and fair dealing, over a period of 25 years in this city.

I believe in a fair and equitable wage for labor, a fair and equitable return on invested capital for the business man, large or small. Fair and equitable rental consideration for both landlord and tenant. Fair and equitable taxation for all taxpayers. And, a dollars worth of municipal government for every dollar of the taxpayers money.

I believe the garbage disposal controversy of this city is not satisfactorily and permanently settled. And, I believe that this proposition must be disposed of before 1955. And, I think it can be to the satisfaction of the majority of the citizens of this city.

I believe that the tax rate on real and personal property will be raised during the next four years, due to the loss of part of the capital stock tax from the Illinois Northern Utilities Co. We will do well to hold the line on costs of municipal government in view of forces determined to increase prices of our daily living costs.

I believe in adequate, up to date, well equipped, well trained fire and police protection.

I believe that one of the factors retarding retail trade in any city is the lack of automobile parking space. Although Dixon is more fortunate than some cities our size, I believe that we should procure more off street parking lots, strategically located in our shopping districts. Our parking meter plan makes this project possible.

I have "No Axes to Grind", no political favors to ask or give, and the only "ism" that I favor is Americanism, First, Last and Always. The right to think, act, and live as you wish under freedom's banner.

If this sample of my thinking makes sense to you, I will appreciate your vote on April 17th. If you disagree with me, that is your right and privilege, I will respect your judgment. Win or lose, we're still friends.

Very respectfully yours,
KENNETH A. RUBEY

SAGA OF 'HUEY LONG'---THE CINNAMON KID

☆ ☆ ☆ ☆ ☆ ☆ ☆ ☆ ☆☆ ☆ ☆ ☆ ☆ ☆ ☆ ☆ ☆

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(AP)—Of all the thousands of homeless children in Korea the one I can't forget is Huey Long.

He looked like a weeping persimmon with a crew haircut the first time I saw him the night the American army pulled back through burning Seoul in early January.

Dwight Martin, another correspondent, and I were touring the darkened city. It was lit only by a half-dozen acre-wide fires.

On the steps of city hall stood a small forlorn boy, all alone and weeping bitterly. We halted our jeep and talked to the crying boy.

Became Huey Long

He spoke a few words of English he had picked up from soldiers. He let us know that he was eight years old and an orphan. When we asked him his name he said:

"Hong Ku He."

Right away we decided that Huey Long was easier to remember than Hong Ku He, and Huey Long he became.

He climbed into the jeep, we swaddled him in a blanket, and the tears stopped as if by magic.

Huey fell asleep that night on the floor of the command post of the 27th regiment with his mouth full of crackers. The next day we drove back to our press camp at Taegu.

Tough to Handle

Huey immediately became the pet and autocrat of the press camp. He also acquired some new nicknames—"The Cinnamon Kid," "Little Pot Belly," and "Charlie Company."

When "Oncle Dwight" went to Tokyo, "Oncle Haul"—as he called me—had to take over as foster father. He was a hard child to handle.

Bedtime was always stormy. Usually two correspondents finally had to pick him up by force and carry him spreadeagle style to his cot.

But in the morning our little man always became a lonesome affectionate little boy again. He got up before the birds. He would try to crawl into our bedrolls to snuggle. Then he would go around and pat each sleeping correspondent on the cheek, grunting "Ugh!" whenever he found one that hadn't shaved.

Then He'd Sing

Then he would begin to sing, over and over:

"Jesus loves me, this I kon,
"For the Bible tells me so."

After an hour of this, even the sleepiest newsman decided it was time to get up and face an army breakfast.

I became so fond of Huey Long I decided to try to adopt him legally. An army chaplain talked me out of it.

"If you take him to America, he will be on exhibition all his life. It is better for him that he stay here with his own people."

When I left, Huey wept a little. But I had bought him a new pair of leather boots, and he liked them very much.

Got Too Friendly

A few weeks later correspondent friends—other "New Oncles"—smuggled Huey into an orphanage supported by U. S. soldiers. He seemed happy there for a few days. But recently I got a letter saying:

"Huey has run off again. And the orphanage staff say they don't know what to do with him if they get him back. He was beginning to pay too much attention to the little girl orphans."

At last reports "The Cinnamon Kid" was still AWOL. And now I wish I had brought him home. He was a wonderful little alarm clock. I miss his birdlike pat on the cheek in the morning. And my conscience tells me I should have done more for him.

Degnan Slayer Moved to Joliet For 'Security'

JOLIET, (AP)—William George Heirens, 22-year-old slayer of little Suzanne Degnan and two women, has been an inmate of Stateville prison since April 5.

Joseph Ragen, warden of Stateville, said yesterday the notorious Chicago killer and former University of Chicago student was brought to the prison Thursday from Menard prison in Southern Illinois.

Ragen siad Heirens was transferred with some 20 other prisoners.

Heirens recently appeared before the prison classification board at Menard, Ragen said, and the board ordered the transfer for "better security."

Heirens has been assigned to the print shop at Stateville's vocational school, the warden said.

Heirens, who was 17 at the time, confessed to the slaying of Suzanne Degnan, six, on Jan. 7, 1946. He strangled the child and dismembered her body in a nearby basement after carrying her from her bed.

He also confessed to the knife killings of ex-Wave Frances Brown, Dec. 10, 1945, and Mrs. Josephine Ross, 43 - year - old widow, on June 5, 1945. His trial was one of the most sensational in Chicago crime history, and he was given life sentences for each of the three murders, to run consecutively.

—A panorama of Dixon area history will be presented to Evening Telegraph readers on May 1 when the 270-page Centennial edition is distributed. It will be the biggest single edition of a newspaper ever published in the midwest.

Illinois GI Appeals Desertion Charge to U. S. Supreme Court

CHICAGO, (AP)—A former soldier who was convicted of desertion by a court martial after his honorable discharge from the army will have his case reviewed by the U. S. supreme court.

The high court granted a writ of certriorari Monday in the case of William H. Giese, 44, a Champaign, Ill., carpenter. His attorney, Albert E. Hallett of Chicago, said the writ calls for the records in the case so that they can be reviewed.

These records show, according to Hallett, that Giese enlisted in the army at Champaign in 1926 and completed a three year hitch. He enlisted again in March, 1930, but four months later went AWOL.

Told He Was Not Wanted

He surrendered in 1936 at Bloomington, Ill., according to Hallett, and was told he was not wanted. Then the army arrested Giese and returned him to duty in October to complete unserved enlisted time. He deserted in March, 1943.

In 1944 he was drafted and served 21 months in Europe, Africa and Middle East, and was honorably discharged in 1946. He was seized again by the army in February, 1949, and convicted of desertion by a court martial in June, 1949.

Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe freed Giese on a writ of habeas corpus, but the U. S. circuit court of appeals later reversed the Igoe ruling. The appeals court held that Giese had not exhausted all the remedies available in the military courts.

In his application for a writ from the supreme court, Hallett contended that Giese's honorable discharge three years after the desertion had removed him from the jurisdiction of military courts.

The attorney said Giese should not be compelled to go through all the military court procedures before seeking relief in the civil courts.

Giese now is free on his own recognizance. The case is expected to come before the supreme court within the next few weeks, Hallett said.

Ohio Church Classes Meet During Week

OHIO—The Young Adult class of the Methodist church had a party Monday evening at the church. Helen and Kathaleen Brown were hostesses.

The WSCS will meet with Mrs. Stella Ahrens Thursday afternoon. Her assistants will be Etta Jackson, Lucille M. Anderson, Anna Jackson and Amy Bacorn. The program will be in charge of Eleanor Schultz on the topic, "Changing Patterns for Women."

Miss Ramona Poole and Miss Patsy Johnson assisted the bride-to-be in unwrapping her gifts, which were arranged under an orchid umbrella.

Mrs. Raymond Hoffman had charge of entertainment and Mrs. Wilbur Carey, Mrs. Howard Anderson, Mrs. Marion VanDeMark and Mrs. Florence Anderson helped serve. Winifred Spooner, Betty Sisler, Marie Nothnagel, Helen Warkins, Patsy Johnson and Cheryl Norden were waitresses.

Guests weer present from Mendota and Dixon.

The wedding of Miss Poole and George Frost of Mendota will take place at the Ohio Methodist church Saturday, April 14, at 2:30 p.m.

Race tracks are the biggest single source of income in Singapore and Malaya.

AN OSTRICH WITH STEMS LIKE THAT?—The fine-feathered creature, left, that struts onto the stage in the Folies Bergere at the London Hippodrome has all the appearance of an ostrich—except for a pair of shapely feminine gams. Shaking off her disguise, right, dancer Renita Kramer of Estonia does a fast-stepping dance in her long-feathered dress. Then she folds back up into her ostrich shell and exits.

Serums Exempted From Price Curbs

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The government announced today that hog cholera virus and anti-hog cholera serum will be exempted from price controls next Monday.

The order issued by the Office of Price Stabilization also exempts experimental chemicals and new chemicals sold in small volume from controls at the same time.

—Dixon's history will be told in the record-breaking 270-page Centennial edition of The Telegraph to be published May 1.

PATRIOTISM IN HIS BLOOD—Larry Heidt, 13, a sixth-grade student in San Francisco, has two brothers fighting with the Marines in Korea, so he wanted to do his bit by donating a pint of blood to the Red Cross. Larry is seen at the Irwin memorial blood bank being told by Red Cross worker, Mrs. Harold Messinger, that he's still too young to donate blood.

Governor's Budget Message Gets Applause, Criticism From Legislative Leaders

SPRINGFIELD, (AP)—Mingled applause and criticism of Gov. Stevenson's $1,206,000,000 state budget was voiced today by Illinois legislators.

Most Democrats and some Republicans praised the governor's two-year spending blueprint. "Honest" and "businesslike" were among terms applied.

The sternest criticism came from Wallace Thompson of Galesburg, senate Republican majority spokesman, who took issue with Stevenson's statement that the budget is balanced. Thompson declared:

"A budget that spends $60,000,000 more than actual income and that does not make provision for a normal construction program such as is required to keep state buildings up to standard is not in balance."

GOP to Have Say

The figure was a reference to the governor's proposal for using up the state's general revenue surplus in addition to 1951-53 state tax receipts and allotments of federal funds.

Republicans control both senate and house and will have an important say in determining the fate of the Stevenson program.

This comment came from Senator John W. Fribley (D-Pana):

"As sincere and businesslike a budget message as ever has been presented. We are increasing appropriations to schools and state institutions by $86,000,000 but the budget is $15,000,000 less than two years ago."

Budgeted to Hilt

Warren Wood, Republican house speaker, called the spending plan "completely honest" but said the state was "budgeted to the hilt."

Reps. Paul Powell of Vienna and James J. Ryan of Chicago, one-two ranking house Democrats, reacted favorably.

"The governor is to be commended for trying to keep the budget in balance," Powell said. "But I don't know if he can do it without increased taxes."

"In the face of rising costs and inflation, it is gratifying to see a lower budget," Ryan said.

Can Stand Trimming

Rep. George W. Brydia (R-Prophetstown) said proposed expenditures "are too large and can stand considerable trimming."

This from Rep. Ben. Rhodes of Normal, GOP house leader:

"A very good message. I am interested in his (governor's) remarks about holding the line."

Senator Charles F. Carpentier (R-East Moline) worried about new taxes in 1953 after the budget period ends.

"It was a good budget statement, but the only reason the governor can make it is because of the surplus left from the Green administration," Carpentier said.

Green Left Balance

There was a "clear" balance of $113,000,000 in general funds when former Gov. Dwight Green went out of office in January, 1949.

Rep. W. O. Edwards (D-Danville), who was house education committe chairman last session, said the budget left school people "very well satisfied."

Rep. Ora Dillavou (R-Champaign) said he thought the governor "did as well as he could for the University of Illinois."

Senator T. Mac Downing (R-Macomb): "The best budget message I've heard. Whether he can carry it out I don't know."

The Taxpayers Federation of Illinois got out a statement saying that "two years from now the cupboard will be bare," and urging retention of the $60,000,000 general revenue surplus.

Shriner Hospitals of Nation Are Boon to Many Children

We believe our readers will be interested in knowing something about the wonderful work being done by the Shiners. Many men in Dixon and vicinity, are members of this great lodge, but few realize the scope of its work and few realize that some three million dollars yearly is used to restore crippled children to health and happiness.

Our attention was recently directed to a little girl in Dixon who, after surgery and several months in the Shriners hospital, Chicago, is now home, apparently cured. There are seven or more Shrine hospitals in the United States and Canada. No charge whatsoever is made for hospital services, and no one whose relatives can afford to pay is accepted in any Shriner hospital.

Dear to the hearts of Shriners are their hospitals, wherein they have ministered to more than 200,000 crippled children, without money or price, and without regard to race, color or creed. Of these, more than 150,000 have been cured or materially benefited, and thousands of others, "in-and-out" patients, have been blessed by clinical treatments, braces and other artificial aids furnished them.

These helpless children, crippled, deformed and horribly burned, literal shipwrecks on the sea of time, come crawling into their hospitals, and after months of tender, merciful treatment they go hopping and skipping out, able to play with their fellows and to take useful positions in life. Think of it—200,000 helpless dependent ones transformed into a Mighty Army of Self-Supporting Citizens.

We wish everyone could realize the magnitude of the business of operating these hospitals and the multitude of services necessary for the children under their care. In their temples of mercy they receive the highest type of hospitalization, medical care, physical therapy and other necessary treatment. In addition thereto, while mending their little bodies, trained nurses, schooled in psychology, minister to their litle minds. School work, entertainment and occupational therapy are provided; and because of such loving care in these havens of hope, clouds of despair give way to rainbows of hope, heavy hearts are lightened and gloomy faces brightened by happy smiles.

Carrying on this work, which has grown until it has become the world's greatest philanthropy, has cost Shriners a staggering sum of money; but, oh! the joy they derive from helping the most pathetic of all human beings . . . a handicapped crippled child, with no chance of having its broken body mended except in these temples of mercy.

In the Shrine, "their jewels are cast-off braces and abandoned crutches of boys and girls who need them no more." They glory in temples of baby smiles wherein every needy, crippled child is welcome. Their philosophy unites fellowship, friendship and a happy philosophy of life with the joy of doing good. Truly, they are writing history in the work they do for men and women of tomorrow.

They are happy that the Shriners hospitals have made America "crippled children conscious" and that many charitable-minded friends are joining them in this glorious work. We are sure that all who have helped in any way find great joy in the words spoken by the world's greatest humanitarian when He said, "For inasmuch as you have done it unto the least of these, you have done it unto me."

—The Evening Telegraph marks 100 years of service to Dixon area residents with its special 270-page Centennial edition on May 1. The Dixon story will be told on four pounds of newsprint in this giant edition.
